DUNDEE CHRISTIAN CONFERENCE.

The third and concluding day of the Dundee Conference was held yesterday in the Kinnaird Hall, the attendance and interest being thoroughly sustained. The weather has been peculiarly favourable, notwithstanding that rain has fallen in the mornings. These annual meetings have taken a deep hold of the Christian community of Dundee and the neighbourhood. Very many look forward to the services with expectation. They enjoy the meetings while they are being held, and from the stirring addresses delivered, and the sweet fellowship of warm Christian hearts, they obtain quickening and power for future service. These happy experiences may be expected this year to be intensified, considering that the subject which has occupied the consideration of the Conference throughout has been the "Work of the Holy Spirit." Mr James Balfour, W.S., Edinburgh, presided over the forenoon meeting, and on the platform there were the following gentlemen:—The Revs. Dr Murray Mitchell, Dr Fleming Stevenson; D. Mackichan, missionary, Bombay; J. Hudson Taylor; Mr Hamilton, rector of Middleton, Suffolk; Mr Kennedy, Perth; Mr W. W. Peyton, Broughty Ferry; Messrs R. Waterston, J. Taylor, A. Inglis, J. Macpherson, G. Anderson, C. M. Grant, A. Adamson, A. H. Reid, and R. Milligan, Dundee, several other ministers from Dundee and neighbourhood being in the body of the hall. The Chairman gave a solemn address on the work of the Holy Spirit in convincing and converting men. He was followed by Dr Fleming Stevenson, who gave a stirring address on the Gospel as the grand instrument of the Holy Spirit in His work of converting the world. A brilliant Frenchman had said—"Give us the Bible, because it has civilized Europe." We say—"Give us the Bible, because it is the voice of Jesus." There is both a living and a written Word. Jesus is in the Scriptures from beginning to end. It is questionable if we go to the Bible—not to commentaries—as our fathers did. The Word of God is compared to bread, water, light, &c., because it is intended for all men. It is said there are 200 catechists in Fiji, who were converted simply by the reading of the Scriptures. If the Word is the grand instrument in the hands of the Spirit, what is our duty in regard to it? Think of this fact—that there are lands and races where there is no opportunity for people to know Jesus—and let us remember that our sceptical literature is affecting India, China, and Japan. Let one grand overmastering passion take possession of us that we may conquer these lands for Christ. Mr Hudson Taylor, the next speaker, mentioned an incident which he applied with power. On the coast of the Red Sea there was a lighthouse upon a little islet, placed there to give light to passing ships. The keepers were perishing for want of water. They signalled to a passing ship their distress, but such was the heartlessness of the Captain that he simply replied that he would signal to the next ship going north to go to their relief.

The afternoon meeting was devoted exclusively to the subject of Foreign Missions. Mr J. Hudson Taylor, the founder of the Inland China Mission, referred to the state of China fifty years ago when only two missionaries were in that great empire. When he resolved with eighteen devoted men who were prepared to encounter all dangers in order to carry the Gospel into the interior, the Europeans in the port towns said that the suitable place for them was a lunatic asylum. Nevertheless, by an agreement with Great Britain at that very time the interior was opened up, and now there was not a province in China where the Gospel had not been preached. China had immense wealth of coal and lime, and with the disposition to go abroad now developed among the Chinese, there was surely a great future in store for this people. Mr D. M'Kichan, of Bombay, spoke of the great progress made by Christian missions in India, with its varied races, and 250,000,000 of people. There were in the Bombay Presidency three times as many Christians now as there were ten years ago, and at the present rate of progress there were some of us who might live to see from fifteen to twenty millions of native Christians in India. Mr M'Kichan added that he could not think of anything more real than the native Christianity of India. It had taken hold of the life and thought of that great land. Dr Murray Mitchell said a few words first of Japan. Having visited Japan recently, he was taken by an American missionary to a prayer meeting. That prayer meeting was to plead for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. The native Christians continued to pray for the Spirit, and the last tidings from Japan informed them that a great revival of religion had taken place. Dr Mitchell then spoke of the women of India, of the degradation and heart-breaking misery which they suffered. There were twenty-one millions of girls who were widows who were shut out from all comforts and enjoyments. The women of India much more than the men welcome the glad tidings of the Gospel, and no wonder, in view of woman's degraded place.

In the evening the last service was held, and proved a very solemn and hearty one. Mr M'Kichan spoke particularly of missions to the heathen in relation to the Church. The Gospel, he said, had not lost its power. The heathen acknowledged that they were guilty and needed cleansing, and that Christianity alone could provide the Saviour. Mr Kennedy, of Perth, next gave an evangelistic address of remarkable power. Thereafter the Chairman, Mr Balfour, Edinburgh, brought the conference to a close in an appeal to the unsaved to come now to Christ for a present salvation, and to believers to become filled with the Holy Spirit, so as in the future to be a mighty power for good in the world.

ENGLISH GIRLS IN PARIS THEATRES.

Ada M. Leigh, in a letter to the Times, acknowledging some subscriptions in aid of a home for respectable English girls employed in Paris theatres, says:—As English theatrical girls exist as a class in almost every large town—in London, we are informed, there are over 5000 engaged in the ballet—the question will provoke itself, why, if this calling is to be ranked among the honourable ways and means of earning one's daily bread, in this age of homes for highly educated governesses down to shoeblacks, one for young girls employed in theatres should have been overlooked? True, many may have parents, but among the 5000 in London are there no homeless ones needing the comforts of a home and womanly care? As a class, we are told, they are shortlived, and it is easy to see how the seeds of consumption and other diseases are fostered in the exposure to late hours and all weathers, as too often insufficiently clad, wearied with excitement, and exhausted with heat, these young creatures wend their way from the gay theatres to their bare and comfortless room. What may be very pleasant as an amusement for one night is a great drain upon the health and elasticity of the strongest when repeated every night, and often twice within the twenty-four hours, from necessity. And for the future is the profession of the ballet girl one in which, by faithful service, she may hope to rise to some position of trust? These young creatures have unemployed fingers as well as brains during many hours of the day. Can nothing be done so that, when dancing days are over and steadier thoughts take the place of giddy girlhood, they may have some honourable resource? The heyday of youth soon passes, and when good looks and sprightliness are on the wane, what is to be the future of the ballet girl?

ECCLESIASTICAL.

Call to Coupar-Angus E.U. Church.—The Rev. David S. M'Laughlan, M.A., Glasgow, has received and accepted a unanimous call to the pastoral charge of the E.U. congregation, Coupar-Angus.

Aberfeldy Free Church Vacancy.—A meeting of the Free Church congregation was held on Tuesday evening in the church, under the presidency of the Rev. D. M'Lagan, Moderator of the congregation. A Committee was appointed to look out for a suitable minister and report to the congregation the result. There is a strong feeling in favour of a Gaelic speaking minister, but those who supported Mr Rae are still sanguine of securing their nominee.

FOOTBALL.

Second Eleven Association in Forfarshire.—A meeting of representatives of the second elevens of the various clubs in the Forfarshire Football Association was held in Dundee last night—Mr Thos. L. Kay, of the Strathmore Athletic, presiding—when it was resolved to form an association of the second elevens in the county. It was also decided to have a challenge cup, to be competed for in the usual manner, and subscriptions to a considerable amount have already been intimated.

UNIVERSITY LOCAL EXAMINATIONS AT BROUGHTY FERRY.

The certificates gained by the successful candidates at the late examination in connection with the University of St Andrews, were presented yesterday afternoon by Professor Birrell, of St Andrews, in the Broughty Ferry Eastern Public School (Mr Sim's). Rev. Mr Leask, St Stephen's, occupied the chair, and amongst those present were—Professor Gilray; the members of School Board; Mr Cunningham, Mr Buist, Dr Wemyss; Mr Miller, banker; Miss Pullar, Westfield House Institution; Mr Porteous, Earle House Institution; Mr Sim, Eastern Public School; and Dr Mackness, Superintendent of the Centre. Mr Leask having opened the meeting with a few well-chosen remarks, introduced

Professor Birrell, who expressed the pleasure it had given him to accede to the wish of the Superintendent that he should present the certificates. Continuing, he said that it was now four years since he had had charge of these examinations. During these years the numbers who had presented themselves for examination were 392, 596, 708, 800. He thought these figures proved that these examinations were meeting a felt want in the district, and that the great advantage of having them as an assistance to schools was that they afforded a perfectly impartial test of schools. Another great matter was that they afforded to the teacher something definite to work forward to for the year. One objection the Professor stated he had heard raised to these examinations was that they tended to promote cram. For himself, he believed that the tendency was quite the other way, as although certain text books were named, questions apart from these were added to test the thinking powers of the pupils. Again, some parents objected to them on the ground that their children were not intended for the teaching profession, and, therefore, did not require them; but he was sure this was a mistake, as the certificates carried with them certain privileges, such as permitting those who had obtained the senior certificate to slip a year at the University, thus finishing their curriculum in three years. Again, it was sufficient to enable its fortunate possessor to enter any other school in the kingdom without the usual preliminary examination. He further stated that attempts were being made to extend this benefit to the holders of junior certificates. It was also intended that the certificates should confer special benefits on those entering for the legal profession. The Professor went on to say that this centre had always been very flourishing, the numbers presented being large, and the passes correspondingly numerous. The Professor then proceeded to deliver the certificates. Eighteen candidates gained the junior certificate, of whom six were educated at the Eastern Public School (Mr Sim's), five at Westfield Institution (Miss Pullar's), three at Earle House (Mr Porteous), one at Monikie Public School, and three at Abbot Street School, Arbroath. The highest number of marks was made by Miss G. F. M'Master, Eastern Public School, 96 per cent. in English, 80 in history and geography, and 70 in French. The senior certificate was presented to Misses Mackness, Sandeman, and Scott, the two former being educated privately, and the latter at the Eastern Public School. The names of those, 22 in number, who had passed the preliminary subjects, were then announced, after which the Professor said that he had only to express the wish that each and all would go on until they had passed in all, mounting from step to step until they had reached the top of the ladder. The young ladies he advised to go on until they had reached the coveted distinction of L.L.A., as he knew of nothing more beneficial and more honourable to the life of woman than the pursuit of knowledge. In conclusion, he thanked the School Board for the kind reception they had accorded him. Dr Mackness, as representing the Committee of gentlemen who had for the last two years subscribed £20 to be given in prizes to those who had satisfied the examiners, stated that money prizes of £3 would be given to each of those who had gained the senior certificate, and considerable sums to the three highest of the junior certificates. He concluded by hoping that the result of the meeting would be a largely increased number presented at next examination. Votes of thanks to Professor Birrell, Mr Leask, and Dr Mackness brought the proceedings to a close.

EDINBURGH PEN AND PENCIL CLUB AND MR IRVING.

Last night Mr Henry Irving was entertained at supper in Freemasons' Hall, Edinburgh, by the Pen and Pencil Club. Dr Pryde occupied the chair, and there were about 170 gentlemen present. In reply to the toast of the evening, proposed by the Chairman,

Mr Irving said—I look upon this gathering to-night as a recognition that you acknowledge the stage as an institution of intellectual delight—a place of recreation for intelligent people. I am proud of being an actor, and I am proud of my art. It is an art which never dies—whose end and aim is to hold the mirror up to nature, to give flesh and blood to the poet's conception, and to lay bare to an audience the heart and soul of the character which the actor may attempt to portray. It has been the habit of people to talk of Shakesperian interpretations as classic. We hear of classic this and classic that; and if classic mean to be refined, and pure, and thoughtful, and natural, then let us be classic by all means; but if in the interpretation of Shakespeare to be classic means to be anything but natural, then the classic is to my thinking a most dangerous rock to strike upon; and as I would be natural in the representation of character, so I would be truthful in the mounting of plays. My object in this is to do all in my power to heighten, and not distract, the imagination—to produce a play in harmony with the poet's ideas, and to give all the picturesque effect that the poet's text will justify. Now, this they have been striving to do since Shakespeare's day. Under Shakespeare's own management every conceivable property was forced into requisition for that purpose; and how he himself lamented their shortcomings he tells us—

> "O for pity! We shall much disgrace
> With four or five most vile and ragged foils,
> Right ill-disposed in brawl ridiculous
> The name of Agincourt."

Betterton, when reproached with the old cry that he was introducing scenery to the detriment of the acting, replies—"No, I am not; the scenery which I put before you is better than the tapestry you have been accustomed to, where your senses have been distracted by the hideous figures worked upon it." What Garrick did we know, and how he was reproached we know also. In fact, from the beginning they were all striving to do what we, with our superior resources, are able in some degree to effect. Nothing is more objectionable in scenic decoration than certain sorts of realism, but harmony of colour and grace of outline are honest methods, as wholesome as sweet, and by very much more handsome than fine. That is the aim and purpose of the method I try to realise, and I strive to be thorough in it, have I to show the hovel of Lear or the palace of Cleopatra. What acknowledgment can I make to you of the "Pen and Pencil" to-night? The best would of course be to say, "I am proud of being a Scotchman." But, alas! no possible miracle of genealogy can make me anything but a degenerate Southron. However, there is one consolation. I am told that somebody has done me the honour of writing my life. He had much better, I think, have waited till I were dead, and then anything unpleasant which he might have to say would not have so much mattered; but when I tell you that although neither the subject nor the author of this biography are Scotch, yet that the printer is a Scotchman, you will readily see that this is a work which must be read. I have told you so often—and you must be tired of hearing it—that Edinburgh was my alma mater; and when I think of my day-dreams here, some of which have not been wholly unrealised; and when I recall the friendships I formed here, some of which have never faltered, and of the friends whom I have lost only through the too swift embrace of the fell serpent death—you will know how dear to me is your noble city. It is impossible to reply to all the kind things which have been said of me to-night. If I attempted to do so I should only lapse into a melancholy study of my own infirmities; but in all places and upon all occasions I shall ever be sensible of my lasting debt to the friends who have so cordially welcomed me to-night.

THE CONVICT GOULDSTONE.

It is likely (says a London correspondent of the Leeds Mercury) that strong representations will be made to the Home Secretary on behalf of the man William Gouldstone, who is now under sentence of death for the murder of his five children at Walthamstow. There is a good deal of feeling in medical circles at the manner in which the Judge and jury who tried the prisoner treated the medical evidence of insanity. Not only was the independent medical testimony strongly in favour of the plea of insanity, but the undoubted fact of the insanity of the prisoner's mother was a most important element in the case. The frightful brutality of the crime itself makes it almost impossible to believe that it was committed by a man capable at the time of controlling his own conduct. It is clearly a case for the attention of the Home Secretary, who, with the assistance of competent advisers, can deal with the purely medical evidence at the trial with more deliberation and calmness than can be expected from a jury in Court. Had there been a Court of Appeal for capital cases—as there would have been if Parliament had done its duty last session—this case would certainly have gone before it.

The Daily Telegraph says:—Mrs Gouldstone, who is exerting herself in the utmost to save her unfortunate husband's life, writes to state her solemn belief that when the crime was committed the convict was not responsible for his act. She says—I have no doubt he did not know and could not help what he did. He was always most affectionate to me and the children, and I cannot think that he should suffer a shameful death for what would be to him, if he only understood it, the most awful distress.

Baptist statistics show an average of somewhat over 1786 baptised in the United States on each Sunday.

Portrait Models of Victor Hugo, President Grevey, the late Leon Gambetta, Prince Gortschakoff, Lord F. Cavendish and Mr Burke, the Egyptian Military and Naval War Groups, and the Informer James Carey, have been added to Mme. Tussaud's Exhibition, London.

THE BRIGHTON RAILWAY MYSTERY.

The young woman charged with attempting to commit suicide on the Brighton Railway on Tuesday week, was yesterday again brought before the Brighton magistrates. She still refused her name, but it was entered on the charge sheet as Dudley. Evidence was given by the police surgeon and the hospital surgeon to the effect that the prisoner was responsible for her actions. The evidence given last week was repeated. Superintendent Carter said that on the way to the station she said if no other means offered she would starve herself. Prisoner, who now declined to say anything, was committed for trial. The police have received numerous communications respecting missing females, several of whose descriptions tally closely with that of the prisoner. One woman is wanted for robbing her lodgings in Chelsea, and two rings were lost which are similar to those worn by the prisoner, and if she is the same person there is little doubt that her name is Lucy or Lucella Dudley, and that she is known at Hastings.

THE AUSTRALIAN TICHBORNE EXPEDITION.

A telegram was received in London yesterday from the Tichborne Expedition in Australia stating that 12,000 persons in Sydney and neighbourhood had signed a petition to the Legislature asking that the lunatic Cresswell should be entrusted to Charles Orton, who has signed an affidavit declaring positively that Cresswell is beyond all doubt his brother, Arthur Orton. Mr John Wigley, of Grove Hall Lunatic Asylum, Bow, formerly employed in Darlinghurst Gaol, Sydney, where Cresswell had been imprisoned, has also made an affidavit stating that the real name of Cresswell was Arthur Orton. A meeting has been called for Monday evening next in London to consider this fresh intelligence, and it is expected that a deputation will be appointed to seek an interview with Lord Derby upon the subject.

THE SHOCKING MURDER OF A LANCASHIRE FARMER.

A telegram from Leigh, Lancashire, says that all doubt as to the cause of the death of Joshua Rigby, the Lowton farmer, was set at rest yesterday, when Dr Perrin gave to the Coroner's jury the result of the post mortem examination. He stated that death resulted from fracture of the skull, caused probably by a blow from a poker; that death had been instantaneous; and that the man's throat had been cut after he was dead. The inquiry was adjourned until Tuesday, in order to give the police time to prepare their case.

Holloway's Pills.—With darkening days and changing temperatures the digestion becomes impaired, the liver disordered, and the mind despondent, unless the cause of the irregularity be expelled from the blood and body by such alteratives as these Pills. They directly attack the source of the evil, thrust out all impurities from the circulation, restore the distempered organs to their natural state, and correct all defective or contaminated secretions. Such an easy means of instituting health, strength, and cheerfulness should be applied by all whose stomachs are weak, whose minds are much harassed, or whose brains are overworked. Holloway's is essentially a blood-tempering medicine, whereby its influence reaches the remotest fibre of the frame and effects a universal good.

PERTH.

The Lord Provostship.—Overtures to stand for election to the position of Lord Provost having been successively rejected by Mr Robert Pullar, Mr Andrew Martin, and Dean of Guild Brown, the remanent members of the Town Council met in further consultation on the subject on Wednesday night. Bailie Gow presided, and the proceedings were very prolonged. In the course of the discussions, a motion was made and seconded that Mr D. M'Kenzie, ex-Bailie, be approached and invited to allow of his nomination for the Provostship. The name of Mr Archibald M'Donald, ex-Lord Provost, was also brought forward in such a way as to give reason for supposing that a serious endeavour will be made to obtain his return to power. A suggestion also made to the meeting was that Lord Provost Hewat should be allowed to retain office for another year, and a further proposal was to the effect that the names should be obtained of three parties who were willing to accept of the honour, and these parties should be subsequently voted upon by the remanent members. Ultimately, however, a vote was taken on the question of "delay" or "proceed," and the motion for delay was carried by the casting vote of the Chairman.

Exposure of an Estate to Sale.—The residential estate of Kincarrathie, near Perth, was yesterday exposed to sale in Brady's Auction Rooms, in High Street, at the upset price of £6500, but there were no offerers.

Presentation to a Clergyman.—Last night the Rev. D. M'Arthur, minister of Kinnell, and lately assistant in St Paul's Parish Church here, was presented by that congregation with a timepiece and bronze figures, as a mark of their esteem for him, on the occasion of his leaving them. There was a large attendance, and the presentation was made by the Rev. Archibald Fleming, minister of St Paul's.

ARBROATH.

Harbour.—There has not been much activity here for the past few days, but yesterday we had not less than two arrivals from St Petersburg, both with oilcake—one for Messrs Dodds & Bathie, agricultural salesmen, and the other for Messrs M'Corquodale & Guthrie.

Horse Killed.—Yesterday, while James Stewart, a shunter on the railway, was engaged at his work, his horse was run down by an engine and so injured that it died in a few minutes. Stewart had taken some waggons into the siding at Spink Street, and had unhooked his horse, which, in turning round, was hit by a pilot engine on the main line, the driver of which had not observed in time what was being done. Stewart, though untouched, had a narrow escape.

The Fire at Cortachy Castle.—Mr Charles Mitchell, photographer, has just taken a series of negatives of Cortachy Castle as it now appears. The photos are well got up, and display a considerable amount of artistic skill.

BRECHIN.

The New Hall.—At a Committee meeting of the Police Commission on Wednesday night, it was arranged to open the new hall on the third week of October. The actual date of the opening and details of the ceremony will be arranged at a meeting to-night.

MONTROSE.

Police Court.—At this Court yesterday, David Cowie, William Valentine, and Thomas Sharp, millworkers, pled guilty to loitering and annoying people at the North of Scotland Bank buildings, west side of High Street. They were each fined 2s 6d or twelve hours' imprisonment.—Christian Moncur, an old offender, was sentenced to fourteen days for improper loitering.—Michael Cunningham, a wandering wight, had to go to jail twenty-four hours for being found drunk and incapable.

ALYTH.

Opening of the New Bridge.—At a meeting of the New Bridge Committee, held on Wednesday evening, it was resolved to open the bridge by public demonstration on Saturday, the 29th September, at four o'clock afternoon. All subscribers, members of the Volunteer corps, members of the Alyth Loyal Lodge Ancient Order of Foresters, and other public bodies are cordially invited to attend and take part in the opening ceremony.

DUNNING.

A Centenarian.—On Tuesday Mr James Anderson, late tenant of Bankfoot Farm, completed his hundredth year. Mr Anderson, who is a native of Whitburn, Linlithgowshire, came to Dunning in 1809, and was then in his twenty-sixth year. Although his birth cannot be certified by documentary evidence, Mr Anderson, whose memory is yet very fertile, asserts that he first saw the light in Whitburn on the 18th September, 1783, and was there employed for many years as the "doctor's man." On his coming to Dunning he was engaged with the late Mr Pitcairns as an agricultural servant, and after serving seven years he entered upon a lease of the farm of Bankfoot, upon which he ran three nineteen year tacks, retiring from the last of these in 1873. Since he came to Dunning Mr Anderson has seen seven parish ministers, and can enter into and give exceedingly interesting accounts of past events in and around Dunning and the country generally. On Tuesday he was visited by a large number of his friends and personal relatives, and in the course of the forenoon he was photographed by Mr M. Jackson, Perth. Mr Anderson still enjoys the same health, mental and physical, unless that he complains of a weakness of the legs, and declares that if he "only had new legs he would be as supple as ever he was."

DUNFERMLINE.

Valuation Court.—An adjourned Appeal Court for the Western District of Fifeshire was held in the Justice of Peace Courtroom, Dunfermline, yesterday—Colonel Balfour presiding. There were 11 appeals, 10 of which were dismissed. The one which was partially sustained was that of Robert Addison, Aberdour, who craved that his property should be reduced from £42 to £35. The value was fixed at £40.

KIRKCALDY.

Valuation of the Burgh.—The valuation of the burgh now stands at £86,640 16s 2d, as against £86,162 14s 10d last year.

THE Queen has been pleased to give her unqualified approval of every sign of thrift and improved habits of business amongst her subjects; and it is one of the best evidences of thrift and better habits of business that our 13s Trousers and 50s Suits are so steadily increasing in favour by ready-money buyers. The thrifty always buy with ready money, and save very considerably when compared with credit transactions. We may also mention that the extra good value we quote above cannot be offered in places where the rents and expenses exhibit themselves to the intelligent customer; and that no system of co-operation can vie with untrammeled individual enterprise, especially when combined with that knowledge of business so worthily approved of by Her Majesty the Queen.

COCKLE'S ANTIBILIOUS PILLS OF PURE VEGETABLE INGREDIENTS AND FREE FROM MERCURY.

THE PHARMACOPŒIA.

An extract from the second edition (page 183) of the translation of the Pharmacopœia of the Royal College of Physicians of London, by Dr G. F. Collier, published by Longman & Co.:—

"It is no small defect in this compilation (speaking of the New Pharmacopœia) that we have no purgative mass but what contains aloes; yet we know that hæmorrhoidal persons cannot bear aloes, except it be in the form of COCKLE'S PILLS, which chiefly consist of aloes, scammony, and colocynth, which I think are formed into a sort of compound extract, the acridity of which is obviated, I suspect, by an alkaline process, and by a fourth ingredient (unknown to me) of an aromatic tonic nature. I think no better and no worse of it for its being a patent medicine. I look at it as an article of commerce and domestic convenience, and do not hesitate to say it is the best made Pill in the kingdom: a muscular purge, a mucous purge, a hydrogogue purge combined, and their effects properly controlled by a dirigent and corrigent. That it does not commonly produce hæmorrhoids, like most aloetic pills, I attribute to its being thoroughly soluble, so that no undissolved particles adhere to the mucous membrane."

A FACT WORTH KNOWING.

BEECHAM'S PILLS are admitted by all to be worth a Guinea a Box for all Billious and Nervous disorders, such as Wind and Pain at the Stomach, Sick Headache, Giddiness, Fullness, and Swelling after Meals, Dizziness and Drowsiness, Cold Chills, Flushings of Heat, Loss of Appetite, Shortness of Breath, Costiveness, Scurvy, Blotches of the Skin, Disturbed Sleep, Frightful Dreams, and all Nervous and Trembling Sensations, &c., &c. The first dose will give relief in twenty minutes.

This is no fiction, for they have done it in thousands of cases. The Proprietor of these Pills having obtained (at great expense) a patent for them, he challenges the whole world to produce a medicine equal to them, for removing the above-named complaints, and restoring the patient to sound and lasting health.

Every sufferer is earnestly invited to try one box of these Pills, and they will be acknowledged to be

WORTH A GUINEA A BOX.

For females of all ages these Pills are invaluable, as a few doses of them carry off all gross humours, open all obstructions, and bring about all that is required. No female should be without them. There is no medicine to be found to equal BEECHAM'S PILLS for removing any obstruction or irregularity of the system. If taken according to the directions given with each box, they will soon restore females of all ages to sound and robust health.

For a weak stomach, impaired digestion, and all disorders of the Liver, they act like "Magic," and a few doses will be found to work wonders upon the most important organs in the human machine. They strengthen the whole muscular system, restore the long-lost complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite, and arouse into action, with the rosebud of health, the whole physical energy of the human frame. These are "facts" admitted by thousands, embracing all classes of society, and one of the best guarantees to the Nervous and Debilitated is Beecham's Pills have the largest sale of Patent Medicines in the World.

BEECHAM'S MAGIC COUGH PILLS.

As a remedy for Coughs in general, Asthma, Difficulty in Breathing, Shortness of Breath, Tightness and Oppression of the Chest, Wheezing, &c., these Pills stand unrivalled; and any one labouring under any of the above complaints need only try one Box to prove that they are the best ever offered to the public for Asthmatic and Consumptive Coughs, Hoarseness, and Oppression of the Chest. They speedily remove that sense of oppression and difficulty of breathing, which nightly deprive the patient of rest. They give almost instant relief and comfort to those afflicted with the above distressing, and, when neglected, dangerous complaints. Let any persons troubled with any of the above complaints give Beecham's Cough Pills a trial. The most violent Cough will in a short time be removed.

Caution.—The public are requested to notice that the words, "Beecham's Pills, St Helen's," are on the Government Stamp affixed to each box of Pills; if not on, they are a forgery.

Prepared only and sold wholesale and retail by the Proprietor, T. Beecham, Chemist, St Helen's, Lancashire, in Boxes at 1s 1½d, and 2s 9d each. Sent post free from the Proprietor for 15 to 36 stamps.

Sold by all Druggists and Patent Medicine Dealers in the United Kingdom.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers in Dundee, and every town in Scotland.

N.B.—Full directions are given with each box.

An Elephant Stopping a Train.—An amusing story as to the efficiency of the Westinghouse brake is related in connection with a train on the Erie system. Soon after leaving a station the train was pulled up by the brakes, and the engineer and conductor, having examined the indicators and the pipes, were at a loss to explain how it had happened. Certainly the brakes had been put on, all the connections were in order, and neither the driver nor guards had any desire to stop, nor had any of the passengers pulled the cord. To make up for lost time, extra speed was put on, but after a short run the train was again brought up, and the performance of examining and sending a man to the rear with a warning flag was again gone through. The train then proceeded on its journey once more, and reached the station an hour late. Here, while the axles were being "tapped," the brakes were again put on, and after investigation suspicion fell on a sealed express car, which being opened was found to contain a baby elephant, who was still pulling with his trunk at the brake rope, which had been carelessly left within reach. This is no doubt the first occasion on which an elephant has stopped a train by means of the brakes.
